China is an emerging power in the 21st Century. The country is going through a period of swift cultural and social change. It provides a challenging, complex and exciting way of living, learning and working. This program is aimed at young Australians who love a challenge and have a strong desire for an international career.

Where: Nanjing University (NU), Nanjing, China

When: 1st September - 21st November 2008

The scholarship covers: Return international airfare, accommodation costs, and local cultural activities.

What can you achieve?:
- Complete two or three courses in Chinese language and culture (enrol in one or two other courses at home school to make up a full-time load)
- Enrich and broaden your knowledge in a cross-culture environment
- Establish a global network by learning with students from China and a range of other countries
- Enhance your capability and contribute to internationalisation of higher education by conducting public presentations to students and staff at the host university
- Experiencing rich and diverse culture in China and possibly her neighbouring countries

You are eligible to apply if you:
- Study full-time and have a good academic record;
- Are keen on an international career;
- Are interested in Asian culture and regional development;
- Have a desire to achieve high as an individual AND a proactive team member

For application form: http://www.rmit.edu.au/gsssp/languages/scholarships/umap
For more information contact
Ms Guosheng Chen
Language Programs Manager
School of Global Studies, Social Science and Planning