

Creative Funding Guidelines

RMIT Link Arts Council

The Creative Funding program is a student driven peer-to-peer process facilitated through the RMIT Link Arts Council, which is comprised of executive and interested members of our Arts Collectives, as well as individuals with an interest in arts on campus and governance. Elected members of the Arts Council also sit on the Link Advisory Committee which feeds up to the Dean of Students. Each funding round there is an independent panel of students who are guided and mentored by RMIT Link staff in making decisions around Creative Funding allocation. These decisions are then approved by the RMIT Link Arts Council.

Purpose

The purpose of this funding is to facilitate extracurricular creative activities by RMIT students. Funding for these activities provides opportunities for professional development and the enrichment of the RMIT student experience. It also encourages the development of best practice for external and future funding requirements. In keeping with this principle, funding is not provided for assessable academic activities, and funded projects must report back and 'acquit' on their projects. Think of it as your head start in the world of funding.

Value

Applicants can apply for up to $500 per project.

Closing Date

Thursday 18 August 5:00pm.

Assessment Criteria

Applications are peer-to-peer assessed by a cross-disciplinary panel of RMIT students and approved by the RMIT Link Arts Council. They are assessed according to the following criteria:

– Creative merit

A strong project concept that challenges, develops or adds value to the creative community within RMIT and beyond.

– Practice development

The opportunity for students to realise career, artistic or cultural advancement in their chosen area of creative endeavour.

– Project viability

The ability of the applicants to deliver the proposed activity and achieve the described outcomes. This includes timelines/production schedules, project budget, the provision of quotes and confirmation of project partners and venues.

Contact

If you have questions or need to discuss a potential project, please email linkarts@rmit.edu.au. This grant is provided by RMIT Link Arts and Culture.

Eligibility Requirements

- Individual applicants must be current, actively enrolled RMIT students.
- Group applicants must comprise of at least 50% current, actively enrolled RMIT students. Other members/applicants may be alumni, staff or anyone from outside RMIT.
- Applicants may submit funding applications for multiple projects, but this must be declared in the application form.
- A project that forms part of an applicant's academic submission for 2016 is not eligible for funding.
- Funding will not be approved for projects that are part of the RMIT Link First Site Gallery exhibition program. This program is already heavily subsidised by RMIT Link Arts and Culture.
- Funding must be spent on proposed project outcomes within one year of signing contracts. Recipients are to advise RMIT Link Arts and Culture of any major changes to their project/s. Any major change may affect an applicant's continued funding.
- Recipients are encouraged to do their own fundraising. Artist co-contributions to the project budget are favourable.
- All applications must use RMIT Link's Budget Template and include copies of quotes to substantiate your budget.
- Funding will not be provided for recipients' own time/wages.
- Only in exceptional circumstances can the funding be used to purchase equipment. Any equipment purchases must be approved by RMIT Link Arts and Culture. In such case, the equipment will be owned by RMIT and not the recipients.
- An online acquittal report must be completed and submitted to RMIT Link Arts and Culture within one month of the project completion date.

Reporting Requirements

Funding is dependent on the timely lodgement of compulsory acquittal reports. Acquittal is the process of reporting back on your project outcomes.

An online acquittal report must be completed and submitted to RMIT Link Arts and Culture within one month of the project completion date.

How To Apply

Please note: Funding is highly competitive and while an application may be assessed as meeting all requirements, there is no guarantee of success. Previous funding does not commit the RMIT Link Arts Council to further funding of that applicant or activity. The decision of the RMIT Link Arts Council is final.
